IKEA recalls RUND handmade glass mug

On receiving reports with glass breakage of RUND glass mugs IKEA began an investigation which revealed variations in glass thickness.

IKEA has received twelve reports worldwide of RUND glass mugs that have broken in use. Five of the reports stated that injury had occurred.

As a precautionary measure IKEA has therefore decided to recall RUND glass mugs on all markets.

What to do:

IKEA kindly asks customers who have a RUND glass mug to immediately stop using the mug and bring it back to any IKEA store for full refund.

IKEA does not compromise on product safety and recommends that all customers concerned return the RUND glass mug.

We apologise for any inconvenience this may cause.
