

Product Safety Recall

Millard Slide On Caravans

Sold by Bilsen GMW Pty Ltd between 15 January 2010 and 15 January 2019

Defect: Liquefied Petroleum Gas (LPG) is a colourless, highly flammable gas that may leak and build up inside the caravan as the consumer gas piping is located inside the caravan.

The consumer gas piping has not been installed in accordance with the relevant gas safety standard for installation in caravans for non-propulsive purposes.

Hazard: In the event of an LPG gas leak, gas may accumulate within the caravan and may present a risk of poisoning or a fire, which could cause serious illness, injury or death.

What to do: Consumers should stop using gas in their caravan and contact an authorised Millard Caravan Dealer to arrange for the gas piping to be rerouted, free of charge.
